

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to mandate that their stations air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is yet another example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair has a legal obligation to serve the public interest. It clearly thumbs it's nose at this quaint concept.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.